

The famous CHEDDAR GORGE is one of the wonders of England. The perpendicular cliffs at either side of the gorge rise in places to 400 feet above the roadway and the Cheddar Caves have the most remarkable display of stalactites and stalagmites to be seen in Britain. The caves were inhabited in prehistoric times as many bone implements have been discovered, as well as the remains of the 'Cheddar Man', thought to be between 10,000 to 12,000 years old.

Published by John Hinde (Distributors) Ltd., Printer in Ireland.
